“Flying for Life...”

Many countries in the developing world still have poor infrastructure which puts at risk the lives of so many people. Mission Aviation Fellowship, a dynamic Christian organisation, plays an important part in relieving suffering. Operating more than one hundred and twenty-five light aircraft in over thirty countries it succeeds in saving life and bringing aid and succour to people in remote corners of the globe. Beginning with a brief account of the setting up of MAF after WWII, Dr John Ledger will tell us about its present work and some of the dangers faced in flying to isolated places. There will be an opportunity to ask questions.
